

Juthur

A senses-first literacy ecosystem and six offline hubs · Dubai · October 2026

جذور: منظومةٌ تعيدُ الجسدَ إلى التعليم، وستُهبّاتُ تعملُ دونَ إنترنت.

What it is

Juthur brings the body back into learning in an age of screens. It spans a children’s literary and tactile-reading library, an offline whole-Qur’an hub, and five further hubs for second-language assessment, service learning, departmental practice, student creativity and school organisation. Every hub serves four audiences at once: the student, the family, the school and decision-makers. Each grows with age from early childhood to young adulthood, and each runs as a single page or file in the browser with no account and no server.

كلُّ هبٍّ يخدمُ الطالبَ والأسرةَ والمدرسةَ وصنّاعَ القرار، ويتدرّجُ مع العمر، ويعملُ في المتصفّح دون حسابٍ ولا خادم.

The six hubs

Hub	What it does that is distinctive	بالعربية
Athar	The human dimension of education is common worldwide; Athar is the educational dimension of the human being. Humanitarian work becomes learning too: every service hour is written in the giver’s name, one hour for one hour.	العملُ الإنسانيُّ يصيرُ تعليمًا أيضًا.
Miqyas	The second-language hub: a time-saving tool with precise measurement. Teachers rate the same samples blind, in pairs, then converge on one standard across Arabic, French and Spanish.	هَبُّ اللغةِ الثانية: أداةٌ توفرُ الوقتَ بقياساتٍ دقيقة.
Masar	A precise lifeline, as others describe it: one offline file chaining standard, lesson, assessment and gradebook, useful to teacher, student, school, inspection and decision-makers.	طوقُ نجاةٍ دقيقٌ للمعلِّمِ والطالبِ والمدرسةِ والتفتيشِ.
Darbi	The student’s creative space under the school’s eye. It works without internet, so study does not stop when connection is lost in a disaster.	مساحةٌ إبداعٍ الطالبِ، تعملُ حينَ ينقطعُ الإنترنت.
Murqat al-Juthur	The whole Qur’an (6,236 verses) with a five-stage model for every verse: as in the Mushaf, dotted, engraved, film, raised. The first such model for all ages according to the author’s survey of the literature.	النموذجُ الخماسيُّ لتعليمِ القرآنِ لكلِّ الأعمار.
Jumu’ah Call	A school space for Friday prayer: year map, Friday path, volunteers, curriculum link.	فضاءٌ لصلاةِ الجمعةِ في المدرسة.

Evidence, stated with its limits

- The research base is a published exploratory pilot, Frontiers in Education (2026), doi 10.3389/feduc.2026.1880655: 142 children aged 4 to 8, six classrooms, one school; $r = 0.71$, $d = 0.68$, inter-coder $\kappa = 0.86$. Observational, not causal. It supports the tactile reading framework only, not every hub.
- Each hub has its own evidence card, including what has not been measured yet (outcome studies, timed studies, moderation records). Where there is no evidence, the site says so.
- The “first of its kind” claim is scoped and published with an open invitation to point out an earlier system.

Verified engineering

Area	Result (10 October 2026)
Accessibility	Automated axe-core WCAG 2.2 A/AA checks over 29 pages at desktop and phone widths: zero violations in the final run (see the accessibility statement for the exact result). Keyboard navigation, reduced-motion, language tagging. An independent human audit is still to be commissioned.
Privacy	No cookies, no analytics, no ads, no accounts. Fonts are self-hosted, so no request leaves the site. The only form collects an organisation, an email and a note. Murqat makes no network call at all; recitation recordings never leave the device.
Offline	Eight site pages and the Murqat hub were opened with the network disabled: zero external requests, fonts rendered, no script errors.
Continuity	Static files, two independent hosts, and one full backup file with a script that rebuilds the site in minutes. Reviewers described the sustainability of the Athar hub as present in all conditions, even years later.
Rights	Author's works: all rights reserved. Third-party sources (Quran.com data, EveryAyah audio, Sahih International translation) are listed with their status; licences are being confirmed before wider distribution.

What reviewers are asked to examine

- Murqat: soundness of the Uthmani text, audio-to-text match, English word meanings, the thirteen-step memorisation map, and the suitability of the five stages for all ages.
- Any hub: corrections, questions and strengths, through the form on the reviewers page.

يُطلبُ من المراجعين النظرُ في سلامة النصِّ ومطابقة التلاوة والمعاني وخريطة الحفظ وملاءمة المراحل الخمس.

Live site: <https://juthur-621.netlify.app> · Reviewers page: </jury> · Evidence: </evidence> · Privacy: </privacy> · Accessibility: </accessibility>

Designed and developed by Dr. Adel F. Amer · Head of Department, Arabic and Islamic Studies, American School of Dubai. An independent project, not an official publication of the school.